CLEVELAND – September 1, 2011 – Kovels on Antiques and Collectibles September 2011 issue is now available in print and online. Love the look of leaded glass lamps but can't afford a Tiffany? See pictures and prices of lamps by less-famous American makers in Kovels' September newsletter. Old Coca-Cola ads highlight many advertising auctions and Kovels' September newsletter reports on recent big sellers. Kovels on Antiques and Collectibles also offers full reports on striking pottery designs by Clarice Cliff, simple yet practical wooden items made by the Shakers, and elaborately decorated antique telephones that sold for very high prices.

Regular monthly features—the Dictionary of Marks (September features marks used by East Liverpool, Ohio, pottery companies), the popular illustrated Collector's Gallery with answers to readers' questions, and the Buyer's Price Guide of recent prices—are also included.

With its mixture of expert advice and reports on what's hot in the market, the newsletter has something to offer for both beginning and experienced collectors.
